Directions: Read the passage carefully and answer the questions from 21 to 25.

There is a story of a man, who thought that he had a right to do what he liked. One day this man was walking along a busy road, spinning his walking stick round and round in hand and was trying to look important. A gentleman walking behind him objected. "You ought not to do that in your walking - stick round and round like that". The man said, "I am free to do what I like with my walking - stick" argued the first gentleman. "Of course you are," said the other man, "but you ought to know that your freedom ends where my nose begins." The story tells us that we can enjoy our rights and our freedom only if they do not interfere with other people's rights and freedom.
